e. Does your hospital use an Assets test to determine eligibility for charity care?

☒ YES NO If yes, please briefly summarize method. "The state of Texas has set forth guidelines for determining patient eligibility for charity care. These guidelines require means testing and income levels indexed to current Federal Poverty Guidelines. Means testing may include proof of income such as the most recent federal income tax return. Patients whose gross household income falls below the 200% threshold may be considered eligible. In determining whether the patient meets criteria for charity care, the Hospital may consider the extent to which a person has assets other than income that could be used to meet his or her obligations. To assist in this determination, a financial statement and credit report will be taken for all requests."
